Today we are a 20-year young company and as every day we are raring to go ahead and script a story of success, trust and celebrations. Over the past decade we have built a formidable reputation of putting Indian SMEs on the global map. Our enviable track record of being the only profitable B2B portal since our launch would not have been made possible without our trusted members, who have relied on us and whom we have never let down. While I take this opportunity to thank all our members for their support in the last two decades, I would also like to underscore the fact that we all must understand that business through B2B portals will be the next big thing. In the last two decades we have witnessed that SMEs doing business via B2B portals have profited immensely over those who resorted to doing business the conventional way. And in the next 20 years, the future of SMEs will invariably depend on how they integrate B2B tools in their operations. It is a moment of great pride and tremendous joy for every Tradeindian to have played a key role in the revolution to provide SMEs a platform to conduct hassle-free business with partners all over the world. With the support of our esteemed clients and members, the journey that started in 1990, as Infocom Network Limited, has been extremely fulfilling and satisfying. It is indeed a proud feeling to see Indian SMEs taking centrestage on the global map and it gives me double pleasure that we have played a part in helping them achieve this. Our success during these period has enabled us to break all geographical barriers by using B2B as the medium to find business partners in every nook and corner of the globe. As we celebrate our 20th foundation day today, I would like to thank all of our stakeholders, including over 15 lakh members for their continued support and making us the success story we are today.
